

We have learned to fly the air like birds and swim the sea like fish, but we have not learned the simple act of living together as brothers.

- Martin Luther King Jr. -